Creating multiple Outlook OOXML with VBA I'm trying to write an Outlook VBA procedure that will create a new OOXML file for every row in a table that I have. The new OOXML files should contain columns from a table as the document properties. I have the following code: '*****
'***** Sub NewGPO() Set olApp = CreateObject("Outlook.Application") Set olNS = olApp.Session.CurrentUser.DefaultContainer _

Q: How can I change my SqlConnection String in visual studio How can I change my SqlConnection String in visual studio. I am using MVC and for whatever reason I need to change my connection string in visual studio. Is it in the web.config? I don't want to have to go through every file in my project changing a connection string. A: I don't know if this is the answer you are looking for, but, if you are using web forms, here is how you can do it... You can use the web.config to manage your connection strings, and simply modify the web.config at design-time for development. Once your application is deployed to the production environment, you can change the connection string to a production-ready one at run-time. I hope this makes sense, if not let me know. A: You can add your connection string to your web.config and set a flag so that your web.config knows to look for it there. Then when you are ready to release the site you change the flag to "false" so that the connection string is no longer in the config. with underinsured motorist coverage) on a new computer and says "Hm, I'm going to have to fix this."
