What would you do? My friends, I have asked myself the question, what would you do if you knew that your only daughter was dying in a foreign hospital, a sea of hundreds, millions of people, a monument to all the beauty and achievements of man and yet all you can do is feel and cry? If you knew that you could save her by taking her to a country in Europe or a country in Africa, would you? The question haunts me. I do not know what my answer would be. Perhaps you would be quiet and pray for her, pray that she lives long enough to see God's Kingdom established, pray for the greatest of missionary heroes, Mother Theresa. But I cannot be quiet. I cannot pray. I can't be quiet because she will be gone before I get an answer. I cannot be quiet because she is my daughter. And she cannot be saved by just one of us. No, I cannot stand quiet. I cannot feel the whole while I ponder this question of what would you do if you knew that your only daughter is dying, while millions of others around her cannot be saved? I do not know what I would do. I cannot even tell you what I would do. That is what makes me sad. There
